

Information Sheet Regarding Consent for Collection and Sharing of Personal Information

What is the purpose of this Information Sheet?

This information sheet will help you understand why you are being asked to provide consent for information about your child to be shared by the early learning program and Durham's Special Needs Resourcing (SNR) agencies.

Why are you asking for this consent?

To provide the best service possible, early learning agencies will collect and use information about your child and your family. We only collect the information we need to provide the best service for your child and family, and we strive to ensure all records are accurate and complete. Agencies are required by law to protect any information you share.

To support your child and family, early learning programs may request that Special Needs Resourcing Services within the Durham Region work collaboratively to provide coordinated care and services to your child. This consent allows the sharing of necessary information between the early learning program your child attends and Special Needs Resourcing agencies that will be working with your child.

What information will be collected?

The personal health information that could be collected and used may include your child's name, address, birth date, health history, assessment information, records of visits/meetings, information about your family and information about the supports and services you use or have used in the past. We will make sure you know what information is being collected/documented. At your request, we will provide you with access to the information in your record.

How will my child's personal health information be shared?

To ensure the best support to your child, with your permission we will share information with specified SNR Agencies in order to access that service for your child. We will make sure you know why and with whom your information is being shared. If you do not consent to sharing information, we will respect your decision.

Before you give permission to collect, use, share and store your personal health information, we will talk to you about the following:

- What information is being collected, used, shared and stored.
- Why information is being collected, used, shared and stored.
- How information is being collected, used, shared and stored and with whom.
- That you may choose to give, withhold, withdraw or place limits on the consent you provide.

- That you may change your mind, at any time.
- The potential positive and negative consequences of giving, withholding, withdrawing or limiting consent.

To make the best decisions regarding consent, you will be given as much information as possible. We encourage you to ask questions about how your child or youth service providers will use and protect your family's information.

What are the benefits of sharing information across agencies?

Sharing of information allows for ease of accessing services from each SNR agency. It also reduces the need for you to provide information about your child's circumstances, copies of identification and other records multiple times.

Where will my child's information be stored?

Your early learning provider and SNR agencies have policies regarding the collection and secure storage of information about your child and family. Each provider/agency will share with you specific information about collection, storage and utilization of your information.

Who can I contact if I have questions or change my mind about giving consent?

You may ask questions, limit or withdraw this consent at any time by contacting the early learning program and agencies you have agreed to share information with:

Grandview Children's Centre – Privacy Officer, 905-728-1673 ext. 2259

Resources for Exceptional Children and Youth – Bev Cummins, Manager, Special Needs Resourcing, 905-427-8862 or 1-800-968-0066 ext. 357
